Today, Our land is in need of You more than ever. Our people are in need of You and the freedom you give. Our Politicians and business are in need of You. May we look only to You
This Independence Day, dependent on You.
Please come now by Your glorious Spirit,
Breathe new life into the sinews of this nation.
May justice flow like rivers, and righteousness
like a never failing stream, until the whole of our country is covered with Your glory, as the waters cover the sea.

We ask all this in the name of Jesus, who lives and reigns with You and the Holy Spirit. One God, now and for all eternity. Amen.

Today's Gospel offers a rare framework — a story in a story. Most of the healing miracles are standalone encounters. One person approaches Jesus, demonstrates faith, and is healed. The evangelist tells the next story. This Gospel, however, is different. Jesus is on His way to heal one person, a young girl of twelve, and is interrupted on His journey by "a woman afflicted with hemorrhages." She bravely approaches Jesus in a crowd, despite being ritually unclean from her bleeding, and stretches out to touch His the hem of His cloak. She is healed! Jesus meets her eye, confirms her faith, and continues on to resurrect the young girl. Reading this passage, it might be easier to identify with one story — the long-suffering woman or the young, innocent girl — and to move past the other. But here they sit side by side. The girl is twelve. The woman has been suffering for twelve years. For the Gospel writers, number parallels have deep symbolic meaning.

Between the woman and the young girl, we are not one or the other. We are both. None of us had a perfect childhood, perfect families, or a perfect peer group. As we endure pain, disappointment, or unmet expectations, it can feel like a part of our childhood hopes have died. Our coping mechanisms, social adaptations, and hidden secrets can make us the "walking wounded" in some respects. Jesus wants to do more than simply staunch the bleeding. His healing hand makes dead things come alive. He awakens the dreams that are asleep. This process requires prayer, conversations with trusted community and spiritual mentors, and critical looks at difficult areas of our life. However, we can believe the words of our Lord. If we approach Jesus in faith, believing that He wants to heal and save, we, too, will hear His calming words spoken over the hurts of our life.

"I say to you, arise!" "Go in peace."
